

1. Make sure that the surface is clean and dry.
2. Measure the decal to it's position and tape it down.
3. Pull down and out about 15cm of the liner, and fold down the edge on the back.
4. Place the decal against surface.
5. Attach the sticker with a scraper; start from the center with the scraper at an angle and work towards the edges. This way you get less bubbles.
You can mount the decal from up to down or sideways, depending on the format of the decal.
6. Pull away the liner bit by bit och remove entirely if it's a small decal.
If it's a large one you need to tighten the decal outwards så it doesn't stick to the surface before you want it to. But don't pull it to hard, then you may cause it to stretch.
